MARBLE WAIVER

The Stone Cobblers, LLC advises that marble is a softer stone than granite. For this reason we want to advise the consumer of the cautionary measures that should be taken when using marble in a kitchen area.

1. Marble is a softer stone than granite therefore more susceptible to etching and staining.
2. Marble requires more maintenance than granite such as more frequent sealing. A heavy duty sealer should be used every 3 months or more in high traffic areas of the countertop.
3. We recommend using a cutting board in lieu of cutting directly on the marble.
4. We recommend some type of trivet to place hot pots and pans on.
5. Be sure to use a substance formulated for use on natural stone when cleaning your marble countertop.

I understand the above information.
